

About Us

Lab Resources

Posted by: webmaster

Posted on : 2012/7/25 23:59:03

Your Scientific Solutions Partner

Who Are We

Since its establishment in 2009, Lab Resources has become one of the fastest growing service providers in the scientific industry. Registered as the private entity in Malaysia, the company offers a wide range of products and services to cater for the laboratory as well as research and analytical operations in the region. These include laboratory supplies such as instrument, spare parts, consumables and standards. Our solutions also cover the instrument repair and maintenance, spare parts supplies, system calibration and other laboratory services. With years of experience and product knowledge, we specialize in research and analytical environment that uses chromatography, spectrometry, scanners, screening systems and others. We boast a team of professionals led by a sound management who have been in this industry for more than 10 years. We commit to always be of services to our clients where we assure smooth researches or applications are achieved. While we are working very closely with our local and international vendors, we bring the cutting edge technology products with high quality to our clients. As researchers and engineers, we understand our clients' needs and requirements.

Vision

We aim to be the leading scientific company through high quality and advanced technology products and services that meet our customers' satisfaction

Core Value

